This course is a continuation of learning for both K9 and decoy from the previous basic level decoy course. This course will be much faster paced and require all the learned skills from before. This workshop will cover the following.

- Safely working K9's through environmentals that involve smoke screens and fending off bites.
- Using hidden sleeves and a hidden suit.
- Using covered suit bites (suits wrapped in blankets and/or tarps).
- Having both applied bites and passive bites.
- Helping work k9s through backup and weapon neutrality.
- Multiple decoy scenarios and bailouts to fleeing decoys.

Required Equipment:

Decoys, please bring the equipment you normally train with. However, the following is highly recommended if you do not already have it: bite suit, bite sleeves. For the K9, 6' foot leather leash, apprehension harness and/or flat collar for bite work, E-collar, a 15'- 30' ft long line, and a leather muzzle for muzzle fighting.

Instructor:

Nick Meier, Owner of MeierK9, has spent his entire life around protection and working dogs. He has spent close to a decade helping develop deployment K9's across the country for both the police and military. On the private sector, Nicholas has been to China helping with decoy courses, as well as developing K9's. He also works with the private sector in Africa with antipoaching K9 units and private military/security K9's. His list of accomplishments includes; US Marine Corps, Private Security, Certified Master Trainer: North State K9 Academy (Tarheel Canine), and more.
