This course is designed for law enforcement personnel who can be assigned to respond to, assist with, conduct, or lead in death investigations including suicides, accidents, suspicious deaths, and homicides. It aims to provide the necessary skills, knowledge, and confidence to enable attendees to conduct thorough investigations.

Topics include:

- Managing death scenes,
- Violent crime scene analysis,
- Interviewing and documenting statements,
- Utilizing crime labs (with DNA focus),
- Autopsy contributions,
- Child and infant death investigations,
- Equivocal death investigations,
- Investigative tools and techniques,
- Child abductions and homicides,
- Legal issues,
- And other important topics

Attendees will be exposed to both formal and informal techniques to identify and develop suspects.

Who Should attend:

Police officers, detectives/investigators, investigative supervisors, patrol supervisors, and those who assist or otherwise respond to a death scene.

Required Equipment:

Students are required to bring a Wi-Fi-enabled laptop computer.

Instructors:

Our team serves law enforcement by providing professional instruction and training delivered by accomplished instructors. Bringing hundreds of years of law enforcement and instructor experience to the classroom, Supervision Professionals™ engages a wide diversity of instructors who are subject-matter experts in one or more of the critical roles and functions in the criminal justice environment, including court-recognized experts in death investigation and investigative management.
