Interview and Interrogation Techniques is a two-day course that will equip investigators for success when conducting professional interviews and interrogations. In pursuit of the truth, students will learn to obtain statements that are voluntary, court defensible, and relevant to the criminal matter at hand in pursuit of the truth. The training is intended to enhance the student's ability to reveal the truth by creating a positive environment for interpersonal communication, reducing acrimony, and effectively challenging deception while ensuring statements are voluntary and freely given.

This course provides in-depth instruction including but not limited to:

- Differentiating between interviews and interrogations
- Preparing to conduct an interview and/or interrogation
- Creating the proper setting
- Interviewing victims and witnesses
- Overview of the Miranda requirements
- Developing rapport and managing behavior
- Basic summary of laws and Supreme Court rulings relating to interrogations
- Having the proper mindset prior to the start of an interrogation
- Obtaining the truth
- Obtaining a court defensible confession
- Understanding variables involved in court admissibility

Equipment Required:

Laptop (w/charging cord) with Windows 11 or newer.
